Leonora talks faith on TV

TV TIMES: Leonora shares the Methodist way with Ben Robinson on Villages By The Sea – Runswick's High Chapel is in the background

AN MMHS RESIDENT HAS BEEN SHARING THE MESSAGE OF METHODISM ON THE BBC

If you're a fan of BBC TV's Villages By The Sea, you may have seen MMHS resident Revd Leonora Wassell in a recent episode.

Leonora brought a social and spiritual perspective to the show, which looks at communities that cling to Britain's coastline.

Leonora about the Primitive Methodists, who set up a church at Runswick in 1854.

'John Wesley set up a social movement, rather than a church, but it got a bit more established,' Leonora told Ben. 'The Primitive Methodists wanted to get back to the original social justice, get out, meet the people. So they set up their own church.'

PLUGGED INTO PRAYER: Leonora launches her own website of prayers and reflections (www.rainbowreflexions.co.uk)

148 years until it became a domestic dwelling. Leonora said their philosophy was about social justice, better housing, education and health care.

'To hear that message when you've been put down by the establishment and say,

There's much more than that in this heart-warming issue:

- how an MMHS resident shared the message of Methodism on the BBC;
- how you can write a book – some top tips from Warren Bardsley;
